HEALTH AND SAFETY POLICY

Key Messages

The aim of this policy is to set a clear direction for NHS Lothian to follow and aims to reflect the organisations overall values and beliefs. It provides the framework in which the statutory requirement to manage for health and safety is integrated into everyday business and becomes core to the service NHS Lothian provides. The arrangements to achieve this include the following:

- NHS Lothian has in place a health and safety management system to implement the health and safety policy which is proportionate to the hazards and risks.

- NHS Lothian has identified 12 key health and safety risks to staff and patients that require management and control. These risks are reviewed and where required updated annually.

- Health and Safety related policies are in place to assist with the reduction and control of those key risks.

- An Annual Health and Safety Plan is in place and it is monitored on a quarterly basis by the line management functions.

- Providing all staff with information, education, instruction and training to allow them to undertake their roles with minimal risk to their or others safety and health.

- That NHS Lothian has in place a framework of Health and Safety Committees that promotes consultation and governance. The Committee function also assists with supporting the risk management system to help ensure the health, safety and welfare at work of staff.

HEALTH & SAFETY POLICY STATEMENT

NHS Lothian exists to provide healthcare services of high quality to the people of Lothian. We recognise that we cannot provide these services unless we ensure, as far as is reasonably practicable, that we will reduce the risks to the health, safety and welfare of staff, and others affected by our work activities.

The minimum acceptable standards for health and safety are those contained in legislation. It is our obligation to meet these standards as a minimum and strive for continual improvement. NHS Lothian will ensure that the statutory requirement to manage for health and safety is therefore integrated into everyday business and that is not seen as a bolt on and becomes core to the service NHS Lothian provides.

We recognise that the prime responsibility for health and safety rests with our managers. This principle extends from the Chief Executive to first line supervisors. Managers and supervisors are directly accountable for the prevention of incidents, accidents and occupational illness, as well as damage or loss to NHS Lothian property and the environment within their area of responsibility.

Health and Safety and other specialist Advisors are appointed as competent persons under the current Management of Health and Safety at Work Regulations. They are responsible for advising managers and staff about their legal obligations and to provide advice and support to enable managers to manage health and safety in their area of responsibility.

All persons within NHS Lothian are responsible for making working safely everyone’s business in order to protect themselves, their colleagues, patients, visitors and the interests of NHS Lothian.

NHS Lothian is required to co-operate and co-ordinate health and safety arrangements where more than one organisation or group share or visit premises. NHS Lothian will therefore work in conjunction with the Health and Social Care Partnerships and others on all aspects of managing for health and safety.

The Chief Executive has overall responsibility for health and safety in NHS Lothian. The Chief Executive has delegated to the Executive Medical Director the responsibility to lead on health and safety matters. The implementation of this policy will be reviewed as part of the requirements of the Health and Safety Management System.

This policy statement is supplemented by additional policies giving detailed arrangements for health, safety, welfare and related issues. Managers are responsible for bringing these policies to the attention of their staff.

Tim Davison
