

Back to School Signalong Video

Information for parents and carers

Signalong is a key word signing system which is designed to be used to support individuals with communication difficulties. It is best to introduce signs that are relevant for the person you are supporting.

The NHS Lothian Speech and Language Therapy service have created some videos to support the use of Signalong.

The video below covers vocabulary that might be useful for preparing your child for starting or going back to school.

Please use the video link below or scan the QR code to watch the video:
