Care after Surgery

If you are wearing an eye pad, keep it on until the following day unless advised otherwise by the nurse.

When you remove the pad, you may need to clean your eyelids. Do this very gently, using cooled, boiled water and some cotton wool.

When the anaesthetic wears off, you may experience some discomfort which should be relieved by taking paracetamol or a similar painkiller. You may also apply ice packs.

If you have been given ointment or drops, apply as instructed.
